PASTORAL MESSAGE

PAUL AND APOLLOS DID AS IT REALLY WAS. They served in God's field, with one spreading the seed and the other following with the water bucket. They were co-workers, who performed a necessary task. They were also only common laborers doing the dirty work of establishing a crop. They had different styles, and unique approaches, but they were in fundamental agreement about the gospel. There is no reason for people to align themselves under the banner of Paul, or Apollos, or Peter, in opposition to others who "follow" some different teacher. Brethren's, in God's field we are not to follow the field workers but the owner of the field (God), God is the one who causes the gospel to take root and grow in us bringing others into faith in Christ. Therefore, let us trust in Him as He works on us.
